

"create air we breathe
to honour the circle of life"

Everyone's memory can be connected to trees.

Introduction

In memory of your loved ones, options are now available for cremated remains to be transformed into life-giving nourishment for a growing tree.

You can choose from a variety of trees, to be planted at agreed locations of your choice. A further 200 trees are also planted locally and abroad to replace the air we breathe in a lifetime.

Your living trees are infused via the sapling roots with the treated cremated remains of your loved one, which then nourishes the tree and creates a natural memorial that can be seen, smelt and touched.

Family and friends can connect and locate the final resting place, whether it be a grave, memorial, or scattering site via our GenConnect mobile app. The app also provides the geographic location of the further 200 trees, and a digital home for family and friends to share lasting memories.

Friends and family can commemorate the memory of a loved one with Legacy Giftcards, which can also be connected through the GenConnect app.

How does it work?

People often wish to be remembered in ways that honour their personal, cultural and religious values. If you wish to make trees part of your legacy in a way that suits you, we have various memorial options available.

What we do

Our holistic science infuses new life into your tree through living organisms that extracts the essence and nutrients of cremated remains whilst neutralising aspects that normally harm the growth.

This patented infusion process is a quantum leap from alternative bio degradable technologies, our technology is scientifically proven to increase strong tree growth and soil health.

- We make donations to tree planting partners, located via the GenConnect mobile app
- We work with your chosen funeral director, cemeteries, local council and other parties.
- We respect all religions and ethnic rituals
- We donate 5% of our net proceeds to charity as determined by the Legacy Stewards

“If we can connect with the longevity of trees, then the baton that we hand to the next generation is spiritually significant”

Your memorial options

Living Legacy Forest Tree

“Infuse your ashes into a tree”

Our patented technology combines natural processes to extract the beneficial minerals of cremated remains to support tree growth and honour the circle of life.

This creates a beautiful, natural memorial that loved ones can see touch and feel. In addition a 200 tree forest is planted in selected places around the world to help sustain life.

Collective Legacy Forest

“200 tree memorial without infusion”

Choose to plant trees in memory of your loved ones. 200 trees planted locally and abroad, replaces the air a person breathes out across a lifetime, your forest footprint leaves a lasting, sustainable gift in return to the planet. Your forest not only nourishes the earth, but offers a natural conservation space for plants and animals to thrive.

Legacy Giftcard

“A gift of trees in memory of your loved one”

Friends and family can create an enduring and meaningful commemoration by gifting 20 trees that is enduring and more meaningful than just flowers. Trees are planted locally in Australia or internationally in places badly affected by deforestation and the loss of threatened animal species. Locate the trees and stay up to date on the planting projects through the GenConnect mobile app.
