LIVING LEGACY

Restoring the circle of life

Living memorial for generations

When loved ones pass away, the memories of their lives need to be shared and carry through generations to come.

At Living Legacy, we have developed a unique memorialisation process enabling you to safely transform cremated ashes of a loved one into life-giving nourishment for a growing tree.

Trees are a powerful link in the circle of life, revitalising the air that we breathe and standing tall as a mark of respect that can be touched for generations to come.

You can now plant a living landmark, where family and friends can come to celebrate the new life that a past life has created.

A science of change

Living Legacy has developed an organic process that unlocks the trapped nutrients from cremated remains, resulting in a beneficial natural additive that promotes growth.

In their natural state, cremated remains are unable to support life in a growing tree.

Our process has been scientifically proven to increase strong tree growth and soil health.

The treated ashes of up to four family members can be safely infused into a memorial tree over time.

Living Legacy Tree Memorialisation

Living Legacy provides you with all the essential ingredients and instructions to organically convert cremated remains into the active nutrients for your memorialisation tree.

Our memorialisation system also includes planting directions and a laser-cut plaque.

Preparation of the cremated remains is a simple process of combining our unique Living Legacy formulation. The resulting mixture is infused into the roots of a tree sapling when planting takes place.
